

Long-time Shorthorn Family Honored at NAILE

by Shelby Rogers

Marilyn and the Byers Family in Louisville, Ky., receiving the Show Honoree award.

The 2016 North American International Livestock Exposition Jack C. Ragsdale National Shorthorn Show honorees were Gene and Marilyn Byers.

Born in 1927, Gene grew up on a dairy farm near Loudonville, Ohio, and attended Ohio State University taking pre-vet classes before entering the US Navy. He served in the Philippines during World War II and after duty, returned to college to finish classes, graduate from vet school, and open his veterinary practice in his home town.

Dr. Byers met Marilyn when she brought her cocker spaniel into his vet clinic one summer day in 1952. He called her later that day asking for a date. One year later they were married. In 1956 kids and cattle worked their way into Gene and Marilyn's lives. Jeff, Jennifer, Jill, and Jon grew up showing a string of cattle at the local, county, and state levels and being members of the Ohio and American Junior Shorthorn Associations. Jennifer and Jill were Ohio Shorthorn Lassie queens in their youth. Jeff and Jon remain actively engaged in the farm enterprise and have raised their own families around the tradition of cattle shows and steer sales.

Gene originally was a Berkshire man, but after developing an allergy related to hogs, he bought his first cow/calf pair in 1956, founding Byland Polled Shorthorn Farm. Gene selected the Shorthorn breed for the breed's good nature, milking ability and maternal instincts.

He was ahead of his time in his focus on what Shorthorns should contribute to the commercial sector. Byland started by having an emphasis on producing bulls and females for performance for the commercial operator. Gene stuck to his plan as the Byland program expanded during the 1980's when he held production sales. Gene and his sons focused on performance, carcass traits and other traits relevant to the commercial industry.

Gene became involved in the Shorthorn Association and served as ASA board of director's president and USA delegate to the World Shorthorn Conference in Australia. He also served as a director of the Ohio Cattlemen's Association, president of the Ohio Beef Marketing Board, and as a 4-H judge of swine and beef cattle at area fairs. In addition to numerous roles on local and statewide boards, he was elected to the Ohio House of Representatives where he served four terms from 1986-1994. Gene's favorite campaign fundraisers were pit barbecues held at Byland when 100's flocked to the farm where Shorthorn beef roasts had baked overnight on underground hot coals and were finally unearthed and carved for the eager beef-eaters.

Gene was honored with the Distinguished Alumni Award of the OSU College of Veterinary Medicine and Ohio Veterinary Medicine Alumni Meritorious Award in 1990 and 1995. In 1997, Gene lost a two-month battle with acute leukemia. The next summer he was inducted posthumously into the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame during the Ohio State Fair.

Like Gene, Marilyn has been personally invested as well over the years. She served as president of the Ohio Shorthorn Lassies and the Ohio Cattlewomen's Association and chaired the Ohio Beef Cook-Off. Beyond raising their four children and balancing the farm and veterinary businesses, Marilyn excelled in a career of her own: in 1978 she became the first female county commissioner in the history of Ashland County, Ohio – one of the first two Republican women commissioners in the state. When she retired in 2009, she was the longest -tenured female county commissioner in the state, having served seven terms and 28 years. Among numerous leadership and community service roles, Marilyn has served as president of the National Council of Republican County Officials, has been recognized by "Country Women" magazine as one of ten American "Notable Farm Women," and has been named to the Ohio Women's Hall of Fame for government service.

Jeff and Jon have continued what Gene and Marilyn started by still raising cattle that are commercially relevant to the market with excellence in performance and a breeding program focused upon quality. They raise most of their own cattle but add to the genetic pool when necessary. As members of the ASA, they work to produce the best EPDs they can. Byland has consistently been a member of the Century Club, having had membership in the ASA over 50 years.

Over the years, Byland Farms has received numerous honors, including the 1973 American Shorthorn Association Builder of the Breed Award, the 1986 Ohio Beef Excellence Award, and the 2004 Ohio Beef Improvement Federation Seedstock Producer of the Year Award. The Byers Family was also named Ohio's Great American Family, a declaration signed by then First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Congratulations to the Byers Family of Byland Farms, Loudonville, Ohio, for being selected as this year's show honoree. □
